Marking Services Canada Ltd.

Data collection is a vital part of almost any industry for recording the critical data needed to ensure optimal operation of equipment and machinery, and the safety of employees. Yet even as companies are becoming more advanced, their process for recording data is not.

Using handwritten forms means valuable employees spend time making round after round, filling in paper forms and then filing those forms. Additional time is spent deciphering and keying in all the written data, requiring even more time to transcribe and format for interpretation and use.

AIM Forms from Marking Services Canada (MSC) allows plant operators to engage with interactive forms, accessed via AIM Mobile Technology. Using a smart device, simply scan the equipment sign's QR code, select the appropriate form and begin to document field observations.labeled.
